

About the Community Archives Project ^[1]

The MBL Community Archives Project is a collaboration between the Marine Biological Laboratory (MBL) in Woods Hole, MA, Arizona State University, the University of Massachusetts, Amherst, and Dartmouth College.

- Co-Directors: Michael Dietrich, Dartmouth College; Laura Lovett, University of Massachusetts, Amherst; Matt Person, MBLWHOI Library
- Project Manager: Kate MacCord, Arizona State University
- Historians: Hannah Barg, Grace Foster: Mt. Holyoke College; Florian Huber, Lijing Jiang, Erick Peirson: Arizona State University

The goal of the project is to compile a community-generated collection of photographs, video reminiscences, and science memorabilia of the MBL. Contributed items and stories will become a part of this History of the Marine Biological Laboratory website. Online exhibits from these contributions and other archival materials will be created and curated by science historians and archivists.

- Contact us
- RSS
- Log in

© 2013 Marine Biological Laboratory and Arizona Board of Regents

Source URL: <https://history.archives.mbl.edu/info/about-community-archives-project>

Links:

[1] <https://history.archives.mbl.edu/info/about-community-archives-project>